

olives & olive oils

From glass jars and closures to local and imported 250ml - 1Lt glass oil bottles, plastic pails, drums, containers and more.

A growing industry

Australia's consumption of olive oil increased from 5,700 tonnes in 1983 to 17,200 tonnes in 1993. By 2013 this had grown to an estimated 45,000 tonnes, an increase of 790% in just over two decades. Our country presently consumes more than double its own annual production and is the largest consumer of olive oil per capita outside the Mediterranean.

Australia now finds itself becoming increasingly competitive, not just in import replacement, but in its ability to export large volumes of high quality olive oil.

With this growth and projection it is natural that the industry has been offering important opportunities for the already well established olive companies and for those who are set and ready to start their own.

This is when we come to help.

COSPAK offers to the olive and olive oil industry a wide range of options when it comes to packaging, closures production tools and transporting your valuable goods.

Here is a short sample from a big range of our best sellers with specs for your review.
